Zema Cluny cabernet Merlot 2012

I've been an admirer of the Cluny wines for years – there's an immediate drinking appeal, yet with enough quality to keep the toughest critic happy. This is true to style – blackcurrant flavour on top, a decent pinch of Coonawarra mint and some tobacco undertones. It's smooth, has enough depth to please, and wouldn't be out of place on any restaurant wine list – but with a backyard barbecue price tag. $25
