WINE REVIEW

Zema Estate Coonawarra Cabernet Sauvignon 2019

Mature Coonawarra cabernet sauvignon that is ready to drink for $30 a bottle? Yes, you read that right.

This is a beauty for both quality and value from a family with Italian roots and winemaking heritage that has now been making excellent wines on the Terra Rossa strip for over 40 years.

This is a delightfully everyday cabernet that's also good enough to grace the table for a dinner party.

Think classic hedgerow berry flavours and a wine that's been given time to mature gracefully in French oak. Ready to enjoy right now (try pairing with a steak and kidney casserole) or for maturing for a decade or more. Lovely stuff.
